Dear Sir/Madam,

I am writing in relation to an ongoing initiative being driven by the Malta Employers' Association. The project titled 'MEA EQUIP – Equipping SME's for a more diverse, equal and inclusive labour force' has been the Malta Employers' Association initiative for the past three years.

For the past two years the Malta Employers' Association have engaged me to present their weekly television programme titled MEA, on Malta's national broadcasting channel Television Malta (TVM). I am 31 years old, an Assistant Lecturer at the University of Malta and have with a mobility impairment, and I can honestly say that the Malta Employers' Association has been leading by example in promoting equality and diversity throughout their work. As part of this ongoing initiative, the Malta Employers' Association has also dedicated a number of television programmes, as part of this television series, to subjects such as the employment of persons with disability, mental health on the place of work, and gender issues.

The Malta Employers Association has also shown ceaseless commitment to the inclusion of persons with disability in their work by making their premises physically accessible. In addition, they have also shown the same kind of commitment towards the inclusion of persons with disability in the national work force by creating awareness amongst their members about the positive contribution that persons with disability make to the workforce.

Yours sincerely,

Amy Camilleri Zahra
